Foreword

This book is being presented to you with the hope that in later years as you ponder over each page you will recall the sacrifices, the disappointments, the honors, the glories, that have helped to build your Christian character during your stay at Fletcher and the re-echo of these WHISPERING HILLS will bring back many pleasant memories.

DEDICATION

We, the student body of Mountain Sanitarium and Hospital count it a great privilege to be directed by such a gracious lady as Mrs. Gladys Mae Lowder.

She has faithfully aimed and worked for this training school to reach the highest standards in both theory and practice. With courage and trust in God, she has faced and struggled with many an obstacle.

Even though her schedule appears to be completely filled, it is not an unfamiliar sight to "peek" into her office to find her giving counsel to a student. Not only an executive, teacher, and counsellor, she is an understanding friend, having an open heart to any problem a trainee might face. Her every day life has the goal of bringing happiness to her associates, friends, and students.

So with heartfelt gratitude and deep appreciation, we the student nurses dedicate this our first yearbook to

Mrs. Norcom Richardson--Mother to the student nurses, companion to the patients, friend to all, a true and lovely lady.

This describes in inadequate words "Miss Norcom" who came to live on the campus when her daughter, Mrs. Mary Ellen Chapman, came to work here. Her charm and elegance captured the hearts of all those who met her, and her gentleness and loveliness made her one of our dearest friends, one we cannot forget.

Everyone was saddened and shocked by her sudden death on January 21, 1958, following a heart attack. But her graciousness and friendship lingers on in her daughter "Chappie," to console us and brighten our days.

Goodby, Miss Norcom, we all loved you, and expect to see you in the here-after.

This was the beginning of the 1958 graduates. The original class began with twenty 'Probies' living the life of a nurse until their junior year when five blew out their lamps and decided another profession. Two seniors came to join the class and graduate at M.S.&H., making a total of seventeen. Many have been the struggles but have come our victorious.

Doctor and Mrs. A. A. Pearson:

To Doctor--

For not only checking our aches and pains and taking care of our illnesses, but for his interest in our everyday life and needs as evidenced in the hours and hours of labor on our Recreation Hall and Elementary School, as well as other projects here and there about our campus.

To Mrs. Pearson--

For her cheerful and cooperative interest in our school life and for her untiring efforts to make this our first annual possible.

We gratefully dedicate our 1958 Whispering Hills.

Principal's Message

In this time of world stress and strain the American objectives of education are being reviewed and the results critically evaluated. Like so many other things education must in the final analysis be judged by its product--men and women. Many thoughtful people feel that the problem of handling the masses has caused the quality to be neglected. At such a time as this it might be wise for Christian schools and educators to review the purposes of Christian education.

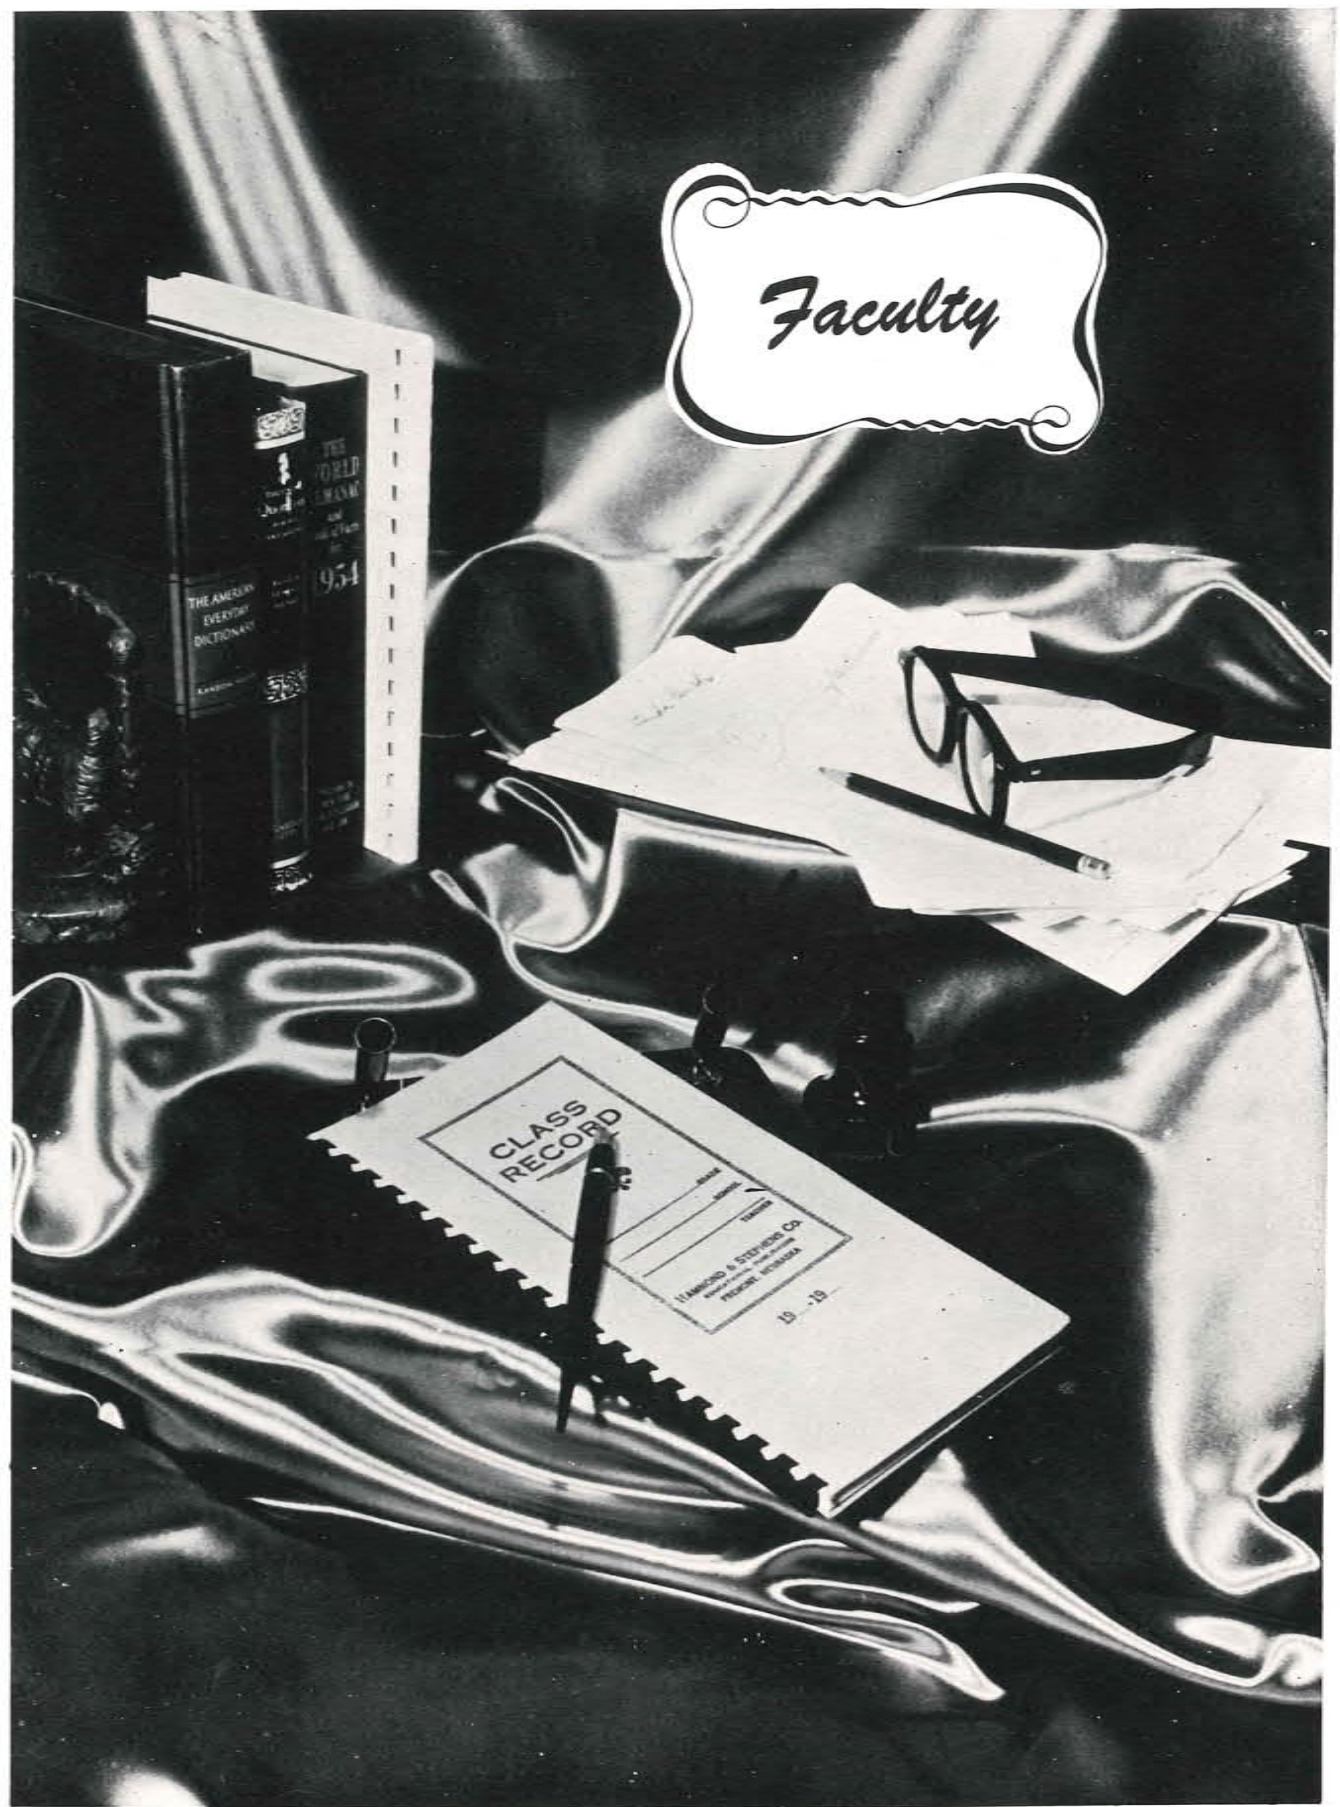

Long ago we were told "True education does not ignore the value of scientific knowledge or literary acquirements; but above information it values power; above power, goodness; above intellectual acquirements, character. It needs men in whom ability is controlled by steadfast principles." Education page 225.

Knowledge is said to be power. History, however, clearly shows that knowledge without good principles may well be a menace to society. Education should then be more than the pursuit of knowledge. In general education should increase the field of knowledge, develop the intellect and personality, establish sound health habits, implant habits of industry, awaken respect for the ideals of a people and encourage youth to be polished and refined. Christian education should do all this and more--create the motivation for being good and noble in character. It is with pleasure that Fletcher Academy, "school of standards high," outlines these ideals in its first annual.
