Student Life

Picnic, mall trips, banquets, harvest party, recreation, and the cafe are all a part of student life. Although we have to work and, of course, go to school, our friends are here. Living in the dorm is not really that bad. (We have the weekends to get away.) The times we look forward to the most are when the dorms interact together, whether it be a pillow fight, a surprise raid, or watching movies together. Banquets play an interesting part in our lives. We look forward to it, but dread it at the same time. There is always the added frustration of what to wear, who to ask, and who to accept. In spite of the above, the banquets usually turn out just fine.

The student association plan a variety of activities to keep us entertained and involved.

Although you can get a good education and have a great time at Fletcher Academy, most of us are here because Fletcher is a Christ-centered school and we want to make Him a part of our lives.

Let's Get BUSY!

What a summer! We're sure going to miss those long hot days & nights, lounging by the pool, skiing on the lake, shopping till we drop, and hanging out. If you were real lucky, you could have worked the entire summer trying to make enough money for registration and still get some cool clothes. (How about that fast food or construction, guys?)

Regardless of how awesome your summer may have been, it's time to get busy, stop goofing off, and jump on your homework before it gets too deep! Doesn't sound like much fun, huh? At least you have all of your friends with you. What better place to reunite than the all-famous handshake?!! Let's get busy!!!

The S.A. booth is "the place" to hang out on registration. Everyone comes through at one time or another for refreshments.

Can you decide which one of these crazy guys is enjoying handshake the most? I don't know; it looks close to me.

Handshake 7

6 Registration

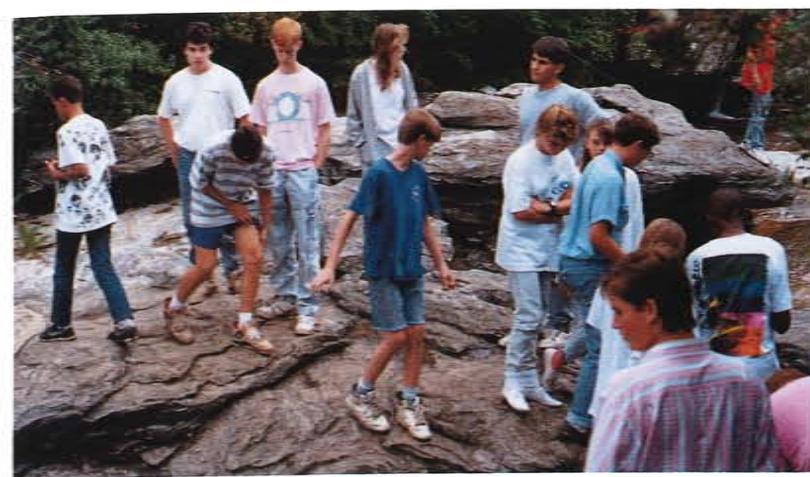

Everyone sits enthralled by the song service.

Dave Smith emphasizes his message

The day began foggy & cold. Who would have ever thought it could end up being such a lovely day? Our speaker, Dave Smith, kept everyone awake and laughing with his swimming experience, and Jeremiah and his loincloth. By lunch time it was warm enough to change into shorts and go on a hike. Although there was a choice of three hikes, some of us decided to participate in some lay activities and rest from our first week of school. We closed the Sabbath with worship on the field. It brought everyone closer together and started the year off on a good note.

The few, the proud, the hikers.

Sabbath In the Smokies

Being a Seventh - day Adventist school, our underlying reason for existence is to be taught of Christ and His love for us. There are mainly ways of achieving this goal; Sabbath afternoon activities, outreach programs, Bible Retreats, and Conference, Weeks of Prayer, Youth - reaching - Youth programs, vespers, Sabbath School, and church. Each of these activities gives us an opportunity to grow as Christians and attain that marvelous goal ahead of us--- Heaven.

Week of Prayer is a time where we can "retreat" without leaving our campus. Given the chance, one speaker can leave a school on fire. Were we left experiencing the love of Christ from our heads to toes, or are we still trying to get "warm?"

Youth - to - Youth activities ranged from Sabbath schools to games & learning how to know each other - The whole point was for us, as students, to reach each other. Isn't that the best way?

Before we even knew each other, we were thrust into a family. Don't family groups remind you of being dropped in the faith circle, of Texas hugs, and of Sabbath Schools? We spent almost every Sabbath together discussing the lesson. Through it all, we've made friends we might not have made otherwise.

Sabbath in the Smokies turned out to be Sabbath in the Pisgahs this year. But I assume we didn't mind too much since we had a wonderful speaker and a choice of three different hikes or sleeping in the picnic area. For the first religious activity this year, things went great!

Bible conferences are always fun! A few days away from the monotonous schedule is also a plus. It's nice to get away and be someplace where the "in thing" is to be a Christian searching for a way to better your personal experience in order to help others. If you haven't been, you need to go. It's a Blast!

We love vespers. After a long, hard week it's so nice to worship together and enjoy the incoming Sabbath. At afterglow, we can relax a little more and share how our week went. It's a beautiful way to end our week.

Anyway you look at it, Christ and how we feel about Him shines through in our religious activities. In admiration of Christ, we dedicate our services to Him - Thank you, Lord, for blessing us!

S A

Every year before the annual S.A. Fall Picnic, friction mounts between classes. Each class dreams of victory, although only one can actually have it. It is an unstated rule that Seniors have to win (they always do); but with so many athletic students attending this year, victory did not come easily.

The Freshmen surprised the school with their running abilities and volleyball skills. The Sophomores must have worked out (or the rest became weaker) this summer, because they stomped the rest of us in Tug - O - War. The Junior and Senior guys battled for 1st place in flagball. The Juniors' determination payed off and the Seniors were "cold-busted." The seniors basically cleaned up the rest and won the picnic by quite a span; but all will confess at one time they were worried.

The great thing about having the picnic is that there are usually no hard feelings. (Each class knows it will have its glory even if it has to wait 4 years!) The student body comes together to experience opening ceremonies, early morning worship, delicious cafe catered meals on the field, and spending a long, hot day with your friends under the awards platform. The exuberant feeling of placing in an event or the twinge of pain when you don't, are all reasons why the picnic will remain fresh in our minds for a long time.

Chris & Craig pay dearly for this, especially Chris. Next time they will know better, right guys?

Family

Almost half of our student body is made up of relatives. From sisters, brothers, brothers and sisters, and cousins, we've got 'em all! Life is so much better with them here.

In every aspect of school you know that someone will always be there for you - through thick and thin. Even if all of your friends were to desert you, big brother, little sister, or "cuz" will be there to lean on. Don't you just love them. They can be friend, foe, and relative all in one package!

Everyone got cozy on the hayride until the tractor wouldn't budge. Everyone piled off to get the tractor moving then ran and jumped back on before they were left. The hayride ended at the gym which made a perfect place for a harvest party because of it's barn-like features.

HOW WAS THE HAYRIDE RICKY?

TONYA HOLLAND
FIRST PLACE

Everyone gathers around the toasty bonfire to drink hot chocolate, eat popcorn balls and socialize.

Every year when the leaves change colors, the air is more crisp, and we start getting out our winter gear, the student association is responsible for the fall harvest party. S.A. worked especially hard this year.

There was a costume contest, a bonfire, hot chocolate and popcorn balls. We ate while we socialized. Everyone piles on for a hayride that ended at the gym. It was decorated for Halloween and the atmosphere was comfortable. The rest of the evening was spent either making a fool of yourself on stage, or laughing at the ones up there. There were a few dating games and a couple roommate games. (This is how we found out Lewis Tessier doesn't change his bed sheets, Brandon Reese has changed his once, and Paul Landers has the hidden identity of being a ladies man.)

The S.A. bid the student body good night by throwing candy bars at them. There was a shortage though. It seems the S.A. members pigged out before hand. (Come to think of it some people had a worse case of acne after the party....)

"Bible Conference" was held at Pisgah Academy this year. This retreat involved the whole of both academies instead of a select group from each. This made it a "big" ordeal.

Both Friday and Sabbath we were blessed by the preaching of Pastor Dick Duerkson and the singing of Patricia White. Friday evening we enjoyed doughnuts and hot chocolate with our friends, and Saturday night we "rocked" the gym with our laughter and games. We had a family nice weekend, wouldn't you say?

Mr. McClung, Patricia White, Phil Rosburg, and Pastor Duerkson gave a rousing song service before the afternoon meeting.

You can tell how exciting the song service was by observing the hysterical smiles of Josh, Brandon, and Trevor.

Before the vespers service, we were in and out of the gym. It was fun to sit and socialize for a while.

Several workshops were given, including Pastor Duerkson's one on how to plan church socials for the youth.

Everyone enjoyed recreation that night. Whether you were playing or watching, the games were a riot. Bible Retreat 21

The first banquet we have each year is informal and off-the-wall. The theme for this year's reception was a "Fairy Tale."

Girl's club transformed the dorm into a castle for open house and the guy's did an excellent job by turning the gym into a ship.

The power-masters proved themselves or at least tried.

Christmas

As the Christmas season came around again, the senior girls were the first to make it come alive on campus. We stayed up all night to make the dorm look festive. On Friday night, we had the annual SA Christmas tree lighting in front of the ad. building. Next, we had the choir and band concert where Santa and his elves gave out Christmas presents. Finally, we had our SA Christmas party. The students got to participate in some singing and then we watched some videos like Rudolf.

Now that Christmas is over at school, we get to go home and continue the Christmas celebration.

VALENTINES

Valentine's day is a special event at Fletcher. It is usually not included in the annual because it occurs after the yearbook is sent off. This year, we have decided to include the 1990 banquet. The theme was "hold on to the night." The back-drop pictured a city at night. The food was professionally catered and served by the S.A. officers. The menu included lasagne / fettuccine alfredo, garlic bread sticks, toss salad, white grape drink and cheese cake. Matt Fore, Magician, kept the audience spell bound by his varied acts. Mr. Fore, uniquely weaved a touch of Christianity throughout his acts. This was certainly a night to remember.

Jobs at F.A. are a big part of our learning experience. Seniors & sophomores work in the morning and the juniors & freshmen get their turn in the afternoon. Many tasks are available. Here are just a few: The infamous laundry, luscious cafeteria & Fletcher Academy Bakery, PASS industries, Living Center, Park Ridge Hospital & grounds, Print Shop, and readers for teachers. By putting our talents to good use - we learn valuable skills for the future. Our work program at FA is something we'll never forget!

Academics

Within this section, you will find the "school" part of academy. Here you will encounter the hands-on classes such as home economics and auto mechanics. You will also come up against the college prep. classes such as Chemistry, Physics, and French.

The secret to having a successful year is knowing how to balance the "prep" courses with your elective courses. For those of us who like to travel and show our varied talents, there is choir, band, and Acrosports.

Somewhere during your four years here, you may be fortunate enough to learn some practical life-long skills like cooking, sewing, auto repair, and home decorating.

You will encounter teachers that can really teach and yet make you laugh. On the other hand, you may run into one that frustrates your best efforts to get a passing grade. Once you have successfully completed your academic course requirement, however, you will be well prepared to face the challenges ahead.

The Color of Academics

Biology lab's finally finished-now it's time to relax!

The Juniors are trying to pay attention (at least part of the time.)

Broadening the Spectrum

FA elective classes are an extra part of our academic program. They are included for each student's success - for those who wish to get a head start on their college education. Our electives range from Chemistry, Pre-Cal, Physics, French, Accounting, Woodworking, & Home Economics.

Freshmen

We are the seniors of 1994 and we are proud of it. It's what we look forward to. Once we get past being pinched, told we're cute, and blamed for everything with the excuse, "They're just freshmen," we might handle life easier. It's rough being young, new, immature, and "lower" classmen. By the time you all are reading this, however, we will be within a few weeks of being sophomores - the "UPPER, lower" classmen.

Wow! We've made it through another year. At first we felt lost without the familiar teasing from the upperclassmen, but we've matured (we all know the truth . . .) and adjusted with ease. Big, the bad, the awesome. We are the Junior Class of '92. Our philosophy of life - especially here at F.A. - is "when things get too hot to handle, drop it all and party down!" We're almost to the top and we're not gonna let anything get in our way. We know how to get what we want, by pulling together and working hard. "To Be the best" is our aim and our motto. # Seniors

Do you remember the first three weeks of school? Yes, we are finally Seniors, but what do we do now? We couldn't believe we were IT? No longer did we have anyone to look up to. Everyone was looking at us!!! Some of the underclassmen told us we didn't really have to do anything because everyone automatically liked us.

We started out as drifters and ended up a big family. Never again will we feel the same closeness. In just nine months, we will graduate and go out into the "real" world. Now do you honestly think that any of us is really ready for it!?

Do you, Jennifer Ilene Stanley, solemnly swear to take Roy Julius Thompson III to be your bouncer? To reprimand him when he is naughty, just as he will do the class?

Do you, Roy Julius Thompson III, Solemnly swear to take Jennifer Ilene Stanley to be your treasurer? To treasure her as she treasures the funds raised for our exotic senior class trip?

Do you, Elizabeth Marie Mills, Solemnly swear to take John Anthony Krishingner, as your SA Rep.? To allow him to speak for the class even though sometimes you want his mouth shut?

Do you, John Anthony Krishingner, Solemnly swear to take Elizabeth Marie Mills as your Pastorette? To love and care for her and follow her spiritual leading?

Do you Patricia Dawn Carey solemnly swear to take Paul Douglas Landers II, to be your President, to hold him in the highest regard as your President even though you, as a woman could rule over him?

Do you, Paul Douglas Landers II, solemnly swear to take Patricia Dawn Carey as your Vice President? To respect her & her natural ability as a female to lead out?

Do you, Amy Renee Taylor, solemnly swear to take Mark Allen Robinson, as your SA Rep.? To believe he will represent the needs and wants of the class and not himself?

Do you, Mark Allen Robinson, solemnly swear to Amy Renee Taylor, as your secretary? To dictate to her, your most heart-felt wishes and commands?

Do you all remember the first three weeks of school? We were finally seniors; what were we supposed to do? We couldn't believe we were "IT." No longer did we have anyone to look up to; everyone was looking to us!! Some of the underclassmen even told us we were automatically liked - - just because of our title. We started out as drifters and ended up as a family. Never again will we feel the same closeness. In just a little while, we will graduate and enter the "real" world. Do you think we're ready? Be honest!

The faculty of Fletcher Academy are unique among faculties. This year, the average age among the faculty is 33! As a result, you can see "miniature" faculty preset at every school event. Pictured to the right, are most of our "mini" faculty. They add an interesting dimensions to our school. They display tremendous school spirit. They are always excited about a trip to the awesome cafeteria, supervision at the field or gym, and coming to classes! Many of us have watched them grow from conception. We have learned to view school and life with a fresh new approach. Some of us have been fortunate enough to earn a few extra dollars caring for them, while at the same time-developing our parenting skills.

Sports

As soon as 6:30 comes, we are all ready to head for rec. Whether it is at the field or the gym, we try to drop everything so that we can either play games or socialize.

Anyone who would like to participate in the varied sports activities at Fletcher, can do so by signing up. The activities start out with flagball, proceed to co-ed soccer, volleyball, basketball, and finally end with softball. The "Thrill of Victory" wouldn't be the same without those participating in "spectacular sports" and cheering us on.

The most popular sport of all is "social sports!" During this time very close friends get to spend an hour in deep, meaningful conversation. The others, spend their time developing their socializing skills.

One of the best ways to exercise, catch up on the latest news, get away from the books and unwind is to go to rec.

Flagball captures the excitement and dexterity of football without the need for practice pads. It's a sport that requires quick planning, coordination, teamwork, and sportsmanship.

Flagball got off to a good start this year. Since it is the first sport activity for the school year, it sets the pace for all the other games. The final score for the season was as follows:

Craig Johnson	7-0
Tim Myers	5-3
Rick Mesaric	3-4
John Krishingner	2-6
Ben Johnson	1-6

Volleyball

"Set it up!" "Bump it!" "Side out." These are just some of the terms you will hear if you watch volleyball. Everynight as soon as it gets really cold, you get to see both the guys and girls play a nice energetic game of volleyball. In the girls game, you get to watch Renee Taylor's powerful serves and Emily Bennett return some of the hardest balls. In the guys game you can watch all of the Ims set and serve with flair, and then you always have people like Josh Matthews and Yomaris Leonor ready to help any team out. If you want an action packed hour, just go up to the gym for Volleyball!

Bill Flerl, John and Rick fight for the spike.

Renee has to sit down for this one.

John goes for a good overhead serve.

Spectator

If you are keen enough to notice that spectator sports is not a nationally recognized sport, then you are on the ball! Due to a lack of basketball pictures, beyond the editor's control, we have substituted the following items. We estimate that about one-fourth of school time is spent in a seated position. You will find us relaxing at concerts, religion activities, games, the cafeteria, and just socializing.

ALL STARS

Fletcher's All Stars is a select group. In the beginning of the year, the students wishing to become All Stars go through a tryout. Only the best of the best are chosen. Those chosen excel in athletic abilities. They play in such sports as softball and football. Soon after school begins, the All Stars compete against the alumni. The girls challenged the alumni in softball. The guys played against the alumni in both flagball and softball. Whatever the sport, and whether they win or lose, the All Stars have a lot of fun competing against the alumni and showing their school spirit, too.

TRIATHALON

The day was just right for the race. It wasn't too cool for the swimmers. You couldn't have asked for better weather.

The atmosphere of the crowd was really great. They cheered on everyone and lent a hand whenever possible. They were a very integral part of the race. There were no "fierce" competitors or any arch rivals, only a lot of friendly competition and good fun. The thought for the day seemed to be that if having fun and doing your personal best wasn't your #1 goal then you were in the wrong place.

FACULTY ALL STARS

The Fletcher faculty and staff are dedicated to their jobs. Whether they are teaching or supervising school activities outside of the classroom, they show, in words and actions, the meaning of "school spirit." From the principal, Ray Hoffman, on down to our maintenance staff, the common goal is to enrich the lives of all who pass through the halls of Fletcher Academy.

Clubs

Extra activities at Fletcher is what our school is made of. Without all the fun activities like gymnastics and choir, you could never get through the hard-core classes. We get to display our special talents to the students and community people. Student life is certainly more than classes. We have weekend trips and tours to go on. There are many different events to plan if you are in charge of anything like SA or Girls and Guys club. If you have any talent to speak of, there is some extra-curricular activity for you to join.

Dazzeling Interests

Color Creators

At 12:00 everyday a select group of students work fervently to put the annual together and meet all of our deadlines. What happens behind these walls is top secret. We have the awesome responsibility of making the events of this school year memorable to everyone. Even though most of our staff was seniors, we did a superb job of representing all the lower classmen. We tried to make this the best annual yet!

Choir- Truly Colorful Notes

If you're interested in worshipping the Lord through song, taking trips, making special appearances, and having fun all at the same time, you need to join choir. Directed by Leonard Cann, the Fletcher Academy choir is a dynamic group of young people who love to sing and perform-Every two or three weeks they get the opportunity to provide special music for Fletcher SDA Church and occasionally make special appearances at surrounding Adventist Churches. The three biggest dates for the Choir are the Christmas Concert, the Spring Concert, and tour. What fun they have! Have a blast and join Choir!

Fletcher Chamber Singers

The Fletcher Chamber Singers is a select group of singers chosen to make special appearances and to represent, as Mr. Cann says "the best of the best." To be one of these representatives requires extra practices and a sight-reading eye for music. To enhance the groups' appearance, the Fletcher Chamber Singers acquired new dresses for the girls and added several new members.

Mr. Cann demonstrates the musical abilities of the instruments.

The newest addition to our Academy Band is the Steel Band. The drums are in seven categories according to their range. Cellos, Bass, Tenors, Trumpets, Clarinets, Tenor Bass, and Guitar. The students who play them are very talented members of the Academy Band. The members of the band must combine hand/eye coordination with note reading abilities. Also, a lot of skill and practice is required to play these instruments. The steel band adds a unique dimension to the music department.

"Boom, down, up! Hold it! Tight and Light!" and so the gym members coach each other as bodies whiz through the air and occasionally bounce on the mats. It's amazing how everyone works together to get difficult moves and attractive routines for shows.

In the process of working together, the team members grow to be not just a club, but a family drawn together with the desire to push their bodies to the highest skill level possible and perform for the enjoyment of others.

A lot of hard work is involved, but dedication is the key. Every member agrees that the time and effort they invest into the sport is definitely worth it. Gymnastics is just another bright part of our lives where we are able to let our true colors shine through.

GYMNASTICS

Girls' Club - Guys' Club

For dorm students, these clubs provide that "outside" entertainment not easily acquired when you're "restricted" living on campus. It's nice to get out once in a while: surprise trips to Dairy Queen or McDonalds, swimming parties, scavenger hunts, and (the most popular) the yearly banquet. This year the Girls' club opened their beautifully decorated home to the guys and the Guys' club returned their favor by providing a truly unique reception. Who would have ever believed that you could build a ship deck inside the gym in only one, sleepless night?! Thanks for a great year Girls' /Guys' club!

First Semester Officers: Ray Im, President; Josh Matthews, Vice-President; Brandon Reese, Treasurer; Paul Landers, Pastor/Choruster; Jon Williams, Parliamentarian.

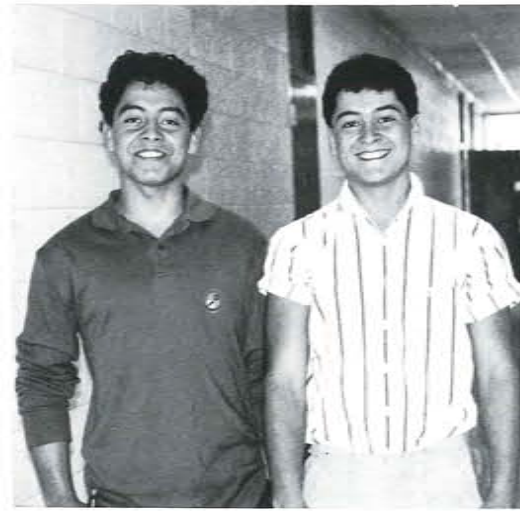

Second Semester Officers for Boys' Club are not pictured due to "underexposure" beyond our control but they are as follows: Charlie Williams, President; Josh Matthews, Vice-President; Danny Hefner, Treasurer; Anthony Philbrook, Pastor; Trevor Kinne, Parliamentarian

Our health team is eight years old and very active. We go to fairs and even to the parade to show how to live healthy. We do presentations on drinking, drugs, and smoking.

Most of the time we go to schools and tell children how to make wise choices. But when we have a little free time, we like to stretch out and relax in "our room."

"Peaches"

There was a little girl who lacked a little curl right in the middle of her forehead. Instead of curls, on her smooth head did sit something that resembled peach fuzz a bit.

A name, a name for this child was sought-- Ah! At last! The name "Peaches" 't'was thought. Peaches could often be seen with toys and dolls line up; just teaching and "learning" them all sorts of stuff.

Oh, the years they did go and come, and "Peaches" grew up to be a beautiful sun. Now "Peaches" is about to graduate, and Mom and Dad can finally celebrate.

For this little girl, who lacked a little curl right in the middle of her forehead has grown up now, you see, and a new name, Miss Renee, has she.

But may this young woman never forget, as years come and go and many people met, That wherever in life she's called to be, "Peaches" is what she'll be to me.--

We love you and are proud of you!

To Carmon E.,

It seems only yesterday I could hear small laughter and a "Yes Daddy, I'll help you." The teddy bears, baby dolls, Cabbage-patch Kids and dollhouses were a great priority at this time of life, but somehow they now sit in corners, never occupied and in boxes in the attic. How quickly time passes and change moves in. Now the little girl that sat upon my knee is grown and still sits on my knee, but in a different way. From one year old to seventeen is a long way you have gone with memories that no one can remove or share. "You have alot to look forward to." One of the few things I can give you is "wisdom" that a famous man once said, "Never never, never give up!" - Sir Winston Churchill.

Good luck in the future and
CONGRATULATIONS!

This is Capitol Hill in downtown Washington, D.C. Sure, it isn't much good for grazing cattle or growing grapes. But it is the capital of the free world, and it's just seven miles from Columbia Union College. CUC students have met the President, worked in Congressional offices on Capitol Hill, and watched history being made at the Supreme Court. So when we talk about CUC's scenic location, we're not just whistling Dixie.

AUTOGRAPHS

Dear Fletcher;

Thank you.

Thank you for the mist rising between successive layers of green hills all around.

Thank you for a faculty who cares -- a faculty who became a friend.

Thank you for evenings of flag ball -- my diversion, mornings of chemistry -- my development.

Thank you for my close friends, friends who understood even when I made stupid blunders.

Thank you also for that outer ring of friends -- the casual ones who laugh and talk and play and work and study alongside me.

Thank you for school year '90-'91 and the lessons it has taught me, the growth it has meant to me, the full life it has handed me.

Thank you for the willow -- the mighty willow -- which was always there like a wise old sage, solid as any shoulder I ever cried on.

Thank you for Strawberry Hill and Christmas Break and Girls' Open House and Choir Tours and Gymnastic routines and my dean.

Thank you for that special person who I grew to have such strong feelings for.

Fletcher; you were great!

Thank you.
